

WALKING TOURS 3

A short amble round the Hotel

Head down Guildford Street and then left onto Greville Street through Brunswick Square Gardens to the Coram's Fields Foundling Museum. There is a nice coffee shop there. For those with children, visit Coram's Fields with its play facilities and farmyard animals. There are often art classes or music events taking place in the morning - and children can take part. Make enquiries on your arrival.

Go back onto Guildford Street and down to Doughty Street - take a right to 48 and the Dickens Museum.

Then head back onto Guildford Street and take a left down Lamb's Conduit Street. Either take in the shops and restaurants here or take a right down Great Ormond Street into Queen Square. Go down Cosmo Place and onto Southampton Row. Turn left and cross the road. Head down Great Russell Street. Go past Bloomsbury Square. Up on the right hand side is the British Museum.

For those feeling energetic, take a left out of the Museum, then first left down Montague Street onto Russell Square. Go into Russell Square and cross to the other side. Leave Russell Square and head down Bedford Way. At the end on the right hand side is Bloomsbury Bowling, where you can enjoy a relaxing drink, food or ten pin bowling.
